

Acknowledgements

From the Editorial Team

In our task to create this book, we were honored to work as a team and to connect with the many inspirational individuals involved in the Earth Charter Initiative from all over the world. We especially acknowledge the valuable guidance we received from the members of the Editorial Advisory Group: Joan Anderson, Rick Clugston, Ruud Lubbers, Mohit Mukherjee, Steven C. Rockefeller, and Michael Slaby. We are also grateful to Betty McDermott, our colleague at the Earth Charter International Secretariat in Costa Rica. We gratefully acknowledge Henny Helmich, Director of NCDO and Ron Smit, Co-director of KIT Publishers, for their extraordinary support and commitment to make this book possible. In addition, we give thanks to Frank Langedijk and Frans Bieckmann for helping with the book design and certain chapters, respectively.

We would like to express our gratitude to the authors of each chapter in this book. Their valuable insights have greatly enriched this project.

We would like to acknowledge the role of the Center for Environmental and Sustainability Education of the Florida Gulf Coast University for its institutional support. The Center works toward a sustainable world through scholarship, education, and action. We would like to thank all those assisting and contributing to the making of the book, in particular: Richard Tchen, Diane Wakeman, and Brandon Hollingshead.

Peter Blaze Corcoran, Alide Roerink and Mirian Vilela

From the Editor-in-Chief

“Dank u wel” to my Dutch colleagues and friends who have made me feel so at home in Wageningen and so welcome to collaborate on publishing in The Netherlands. I am particularly grateful to Arjen Wals, to Alide Roerink, and to Ron Smit for the opportunities they have shared with me. I am honored to have seen work on behalf of the Earth Charter by so many around the world. I especially acknowledge the daily work of Betty McDermott, Mohit Mukherjee, and Mirian Vilela in leading the Earth Charter Initiative. I am uplifted by the commitment of the Earth Charter Youth Initiative. I especially acknowledge the assistance and friendship of Michael Slaby of Germany and Lucky Moyo of South Africa. Thanks to my colleagues and students at Florida Gulf Coast University for their forebearance in giving me the opportunity to do the work of the Earth Charter. I thank my faithful student assistants at the Center for Environmental and Sustainability Education. In particular, I am deeply indebted to the members of the in-house editorial team at the Center: Richard Tchen, Diane Wakeman, and, especially Brandon Hollingshead—their work has made this book possible. The inspiration for everything I do is drawn from my mother in Maine and from my family in the Fijian Islands. Their love is my daily sustenance. Finally, I wish to acknowledge and thank an unsung hero of the Earth Charter movement—Rick Clugston. He also introduced me to the Earth Charter and my gratitude abounds.

Peter Blaze Corcoran

The Center for Environmental and Sustainability Education at Florida Gulf Coast University works toward realizing the dream of a sustainable and peaceful future for Earth through scholarship, education, and action. It advances understanding and achievement of the goals of environmental and sustainability education through innovative educational research methods, emergent eco-pedagogies, and educational philosophy and practice based on an ethics of care and sustainability.